

telos Universal Support

The telos Universal Support is characterized by its robust design and easy and quick handling. High flexibility of the two hinge joints in combination with the possibility to rotate the head of the support 360° sets you into the position to master every conceivable problem of positioning the patient on the O.R.-table.

Carefully selected material and precise manufacturing leads to a secure and long-life patient support.

The universal swivel block - which is optional available - allows for adjustments in heights and lateral adjustment with a range of 60° in both directions.
